

Title: Introducing BriovaLive

>>Narrator:

No matter what conditions patients face, or what treatments they're prescribed: they all have unique needs.

That's why at Briova we take a hands-on approach to providing personalized care for each individual. Every day we strive to create new, innovative solutions to engage patients and caregivers directly. Going beyond written communication and beyond phone consultations to ensure no patient has to face their treatment alone.

BriovaLive, the industry's first live, face to face video consultation program provides real time support to patients including the ability to connect with their care team from the comfort and privacy of their home.

That means a Briova Pharmacist or Expert Clinician is there from the very beginning to empower patients to adhere to their treatment plan exactly as prescribed.

The patient and clinician can unbox their medication together as soon as the first shipment arrives.

They review all medications and supplies, walking patients through any required assembly or instructions for proper storage and disposal.

They even provide proper injection techniques with on the spot feedback, helping patients feel more comfortable and confident.

Briova pharmacists and expert clinicians are trained on motivational interviewing techniques to get to the heart of concerns about side effects and complications. And make sure patients have all the support and reassurance they need.

And because family members and caregivers play important roles throughout the course of treatment, patients may have their family member or caregiver present during all of their live sessions. They can even record and save their video chats for everyone's benefit.

Sign in to your account at W-W-W dot BriovaRx dot com or call 1-855-4Briova to request a consult with an expert pharmacist or clinician.

We will send text appointment reminders the morning of the scheduled consult.

The path to better health might be more complicated for patients with complex conditions, but innovative solutions like BriovaLive can make it easier for every individual to navigate their own path, every day.

The path to better health might be more complicated for patients with complex conditions.

But innovative solutions, like BriovaLive, can make it easier for every individual to navigate their own path, every day.

It's just one of the many innovations Briova delivers to make patient care more personal.
